The power of kindness

Pupils from the School Council are putting the final touches on this year's Black History Assembly and are ready to deliver a powerful opening message as Black History Month begins. In their address, the student leaders challenge everyone to redefine what it means to care for one another, reminding the school community that true kindness goes far beyond simple politeness. They emphasise that real kindness is an active choice—it means standing up for others, supporting each other, and actively building a community where every individual is valued, respected, and treated with unconditional dignity.

Building Confidence Through Reading!

We are thrilled to continue our Community Read partnership! Each week, Key Stage 4 students from New Directions visit Phoenix to read one-on-one with our Key Stage 2 pupils. This fantastic initiative helps our younger readers build fluency, stamina, and confidence, while giving the older students a chance to act as inspiring role models. A huge thank you to everyone involved in making this collaboration such a success!

Sustainable September in Performing Arts & Beyond!

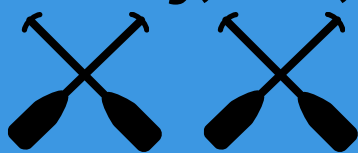

Students across Tunmarsh and New Directions took center stage this month to champion eco-conscious living. Tunmarsh tackled fast fashion with a school-wide Clothes Swap, crafted drama masks from recycled materials, and upcycled musical instruments. Meanwhile, New Directions produced an insightful video podcast on sustainability alongside showcasing their fantastic work in Land-Based Studies. Great job to everyone proving that creativity and caring for the planet go hand in hand!

Unlocking Potential: How We Are Enriching Our Curriculum for Your Child

At Newham PRUs, we are constantly working to ensure that every student is equipped not only to succeed academically, but to thrive in the world beyond our doors. To make our learning experience even more dynamic, relevant, and supportive, we are enhancing our curriculum around four key pillars:

- College-Ready Qualifications: Recognised courses that meet entry requirements for higher-level further education.
- Industry Exploration: Hands-on links to fields like fashion, digital media, engineering, and sports to uncover individual talents.
- Academic & Practical Balance: Blending core academics with practical, project-based learning.
- Resilience & Growth: Building student confidence and wellbeing through steady, achievable milestones.

We look forward to seeing our students flourish through these new opportunities and can't wait to share their achievements with you throughout the year!

Keep your child safe online Talking about the possible risks online should not be a daunting conversation.

Extremist groups are known to use the internet and social media to communicate with vulnerable young people and spread their radical messages, aiming to gain more recruits.

Of course, when the internet is used safely and responsibly, there are lots of positive opportunities for children and young people to learn. You can open the conversation with your child by asking them to show you their favourite things to do online.

Many children are happy to talk about social media use and their favourite online games. This even provides a good opportunity to learn more about your child and to remind them about the risks online and how to keep safe.

Children often see people they've encountered on social media or through online games as 'online friends' rather than strangers. It's important to remind your child that it's easy for people to lie about themselves online.

Trying to stop your child using the internet and mobile devices won't keep them safe. Instead, teach them to understand that just because something appears on a website doesn't mean it's factually correct.

There are some great websites to help you learn more about child online safety, such as Internet Matters, Safer Internet and Childnet. If you are concerned about something, you can call the NSPCC's online safety helpline on 0808 800 5002.
